LUDMILLA RADCHENKO.

MULTIVISIONER ARCHITECTOR
INTERNATIONAL ARTIST & DESIGNER
CREATOR OF THE FULLART CONCEPT

I believe art should not live only on walls.
I believe art should live in spaces, on the body,
in movement, in experiences.
I don't want to build only artworks.
I want to build systems where creativity can grow and connect people.

This is why I created FullArt.

ART CONCEPT.

ART • FASHION • DESIGN • EXPERIENCES

Ludmilla Radchenko's Pop-Realism is based on layered visual storytelling.

Through overlapping images, textures, symbols and colors, she builds artworks like visual narratives, where each layer represents a fragment of a story, memory or cultural reference.

Her technique combines different materials and processes, mixing painting on canvas, resin, collage and experimental surfaces to create depth and texture. Her works are not only meant to be seen, but to be read through their layers.

RELEASE IDENTITY

The screenshot shows a website header with the logo 'identity' and the tagline 'INNOVATIONS IN DESIGN'. Below the header, the article title 'Beyond the Canvas' is displayed, followed by a sub-headline 'Inside Ludmilla Radchenko's vision: identity, transformation, and the art of growth.' and the author 'By Nilufer Najeeb | March 12, 2026'. The main image shows a gallery with several colorful butterfly-themed artworks. Below the image, there are social media icons for Facebook, Instagram, and LinkedIn, followed by a paragraph of text and a short paragraph starting with 'What has emerged is not simply a multidisciplinary practice...'.

1. How has your geographical journey shaped your artistic identity?

Being born in Siberia gave me resilience and emotional depth. Italy gave me aesthetics, culture, and discipline. New York gave me boldness and a global mindset and Dubai represents expansion and reinvention. Each place added a layer to who I am. I don't belong to one culture, I translate between them. My work carries that fusion: emotional intensity, European refinement, and visionary ambition. So my identity isn't geographic. It's evolutionary. Transformation is the core theme of everything I create.

2. You describe your practice as a "360-degree creative system." Was that strategic from the beginning?

It evolved organically but over time, it became strategic. I never saw myself as only a painter. I think in ecosystems. Art, design, fashion, installations, personal branding they are all different expressions of the same creative vision. As my career matured, I realised that building a 360-degree system creates independence and longevity. It allows the art to exist in multiple dimensions, not just on canvas. For me, it's not diversification. It's building a universe.
